

Felobateer Saadalla

Front-end developer

Motivated career changer with a strong passion for front-end development and a dedication to learning and growing in the field. Seeking an opportunity to apply my transferable skills and embark on a rewarding journey in the world of web development. With a solid foundation in self-study and independent learning, I have developed a keen eye for design, attention to detail, and a problem-solving mindset. Eager to contribute to a dynamic development team and leverage my strong work ethic and adaptability to deliver high-quality, user-friendly web solutions.
